

SANDRA A. SHELTON

Sandra's zest, enthusiasm, and high commitment are contagious as she brings organizations to a new level of achievement and individuals to a clearer focus and greater personal impact.

Beginning as an educator, Sandra moved into corporate environs as a team leader, supervisor, and manager for insurance, foodservice, real estate sales, and manufacturing before becoming an entrepreneur, business consultant, trainer, international speaker and founder of a nonprofit organization. She consistently focuses organizations to improve the quality of what is happening among its people – the real bottom line.

Sandra's corporate focus comes from understanding that every business issue is personal; every business decision is ultimately made by one person; and, inevitably, every success begins with one conversation. Her specialty– StrengthBank® -- each person's unique way to successfully contribute-- was developed and refined from thousands of corporate and media audience responses in 15 countries over a span of 20 years as a business professional. Sandra engages people and encourages positive change by first answering the inevitable question:

"How will this affect me?"

Making a difference, her StrengthBank® concept ultimately creates better teams, higher productivity, less stress, fewer problem people, and better personal relationships to bring home from work.

StrengthBank® seminars, keynotes, and dramatic learning events create a platform for better, long lasting high performance which ultimately shows up in a consistent, healthy bottom line.

StrengthBank® coaching extends the success strategies to individuals, project teams and executive think tanks.
